

City Preparing for Future Through Master Plans

As the economy is starting to recovery, Sandy wants to be as prepared as possible for the future. This downturn has provided the opportunity for planning staff in Sandy to work on an unprecedented number of master plans for specific areas in the city. A master plan is a document of guiding principles for the future development of a specific part of the city, including recommendations for land uses, building layouts, and architectural design. The following master plans are being drafted currently.

Plan for Transit Oriented Development at the 10000 South TRAX Station

UTA is working on a master plan for a transit oriented development at the 10000 South TRAX station. They have been in the process of gathering input from the City Council, developers and landowners, and citizens. UTA has hired the firm Torti Gallas to complete this master plan which should be finished this summer.

Bells Canyon Master Plan

A master plan of the Bells Canyon area, including the natural park and preserved open space around the Lower Bells Canyon Reservoir, is nearing completion. The purpose of a master plan for the Bells Canyon open space is to document the history of the area, outline the existing use and conditions of the area, and plan for future uses of the park and canyon. The master plan envisions the canyon’s needs for recreation, preservation, and watershed protection in the future, and proposes strategies for keeping this part of our community a gem for future generations.

General Plan – Housing Element

One of the key issues that this plan will address is how Sandy will deal with its aging housing stock and what neighborhood services may be necessary to maintain a high quality of living for our residents. Additionally, city staff is considering goals and policies that deal with providing opportunities for fair and affordable housing for the wide spectrum of people that would like to call Sandy home. This plan should be completed in April 2010.

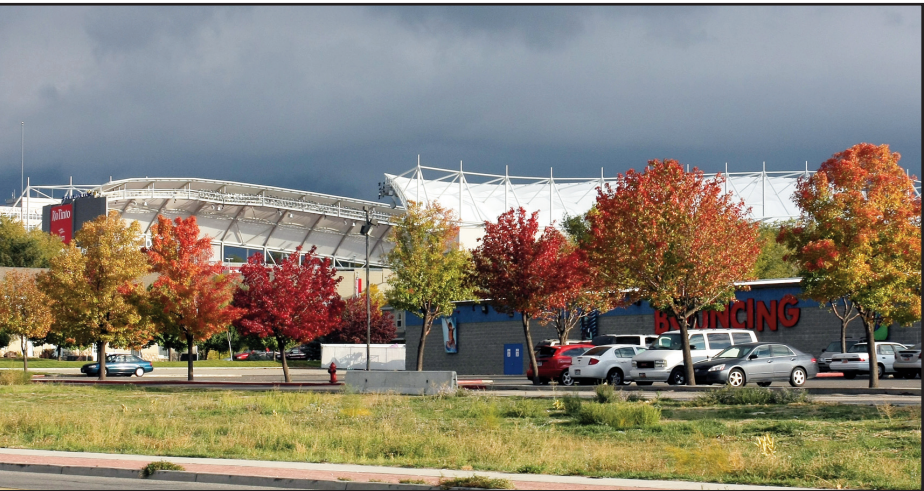

Hidden Valley Park Expansion

Recently, 10 acres were acquired by Sandy City and added as part of Hidden Valley Park near the south eastern corner of Sandy. With this newly acquired area in mind, a new master plan of the Hidden Valley Park area is nearing completion which will provide guidance for future restoration, park use, and development. The plan also considers input from trail users and other outdoor users that will be affected by the park expansion.

Life on State Street

The Wasatch Front Regional Council initiated a partnership of all the communities along State Street along with UTA, UDOT, and the Downtown Alliance to study and develop a master plan for State Street along its length, from the State Capitol through Sandy City. The goal of this project is to provide a guiding document that the communities can use to enhance the State Street corridor through beautification, mobility, transit, and development. A final plan for the State Street corridor will be brought to the Sandy Planning Commission and City Council in 2011.

9400 South Superblock

The Sandy City RDA has hired ASWN to work on preparing a conceptual plan for the area between 9000 South and 9400 South and between State Street and I-15. With the Rio Tinto stadium acting as a catalyst, the master plan will guide future development and redevelopment in the area. It is anticipated that once a draft of the conceptual plan is complete, the Sandy planning staff will incorporate the conceptual plan for this area into the city’s master plan.

Master Transportation Plan Update

The city has recently completed its update to the Master Transportation Plan. For this updated version, a special focus was placed on the downtown area due to the extensive growth that has occurred in this area since the last plan was completed in 1996. The primary intent of the plan is to examine the existing transportation network as of 2008, evaluate the changes from the previous plan, and propose improvements for existing and future transportation demands. If you would like to review the Master Transportation Plan, there is a link on the homepage at www.sandy.utah.gov or on the Public Works page under Traffic.

Mayor Dolan Proclaims May 15 Sandy Pride Day

On March 2, Mayor Tom Dolan and the City Council officially proclaimed May 15, 2010 as Sandy Pride Day. "Sandy Pride" is a community service project started by The Exchange Club of Sandy in 1984. As part of Sandy Pride, residents are invited to join together to clean up, fix up, beautify and make our community a better place to live.

As in previous years, over 40,000 green trash bags will be delivered to Sandy residents the week prior to encourage all citizens to clean up and beautify the city. A project list has been developed for those groups or individuals who wish to participate in an organized project. Information on all projects as well as general information can be found at www.sandy.utah.gov/sandypride.

A beautiful patch depicting the Sandy Urban Fishery is available to youth who participate in Sandy Pride. Further details and a flyer can be found on the website.

This is a great opportunity for youth, families, businesses, and organizations to give a few hours of service to beautify and preserve the heritage of our community. COME JOIN US in making a difference!

Beautification Contest

Beautifully landscaped homes are recognized in Sandy's Beautification Contest.

Sandy City's Annual Beautification Contest is back! Starting in April and running through September, residents can receive recognition and awards for having a beautiful and/or water efficient landscape. Two winners will be chosen each month and a grand prize will be awarded at the end of the summer. Visit the website to view past winners and obtain an entry form at www.sandy.utah.gov/beautification. Past recipients are welcome to enter this year's competition if it has been two years since you won the contest. Residents are encouraged to nominate their own or neighbor's property.

Road Construction Updates

1300 East

Construction of the 1300 East corridor has been continuing through the winter months. In the northern portion of the project, crews have completed the raised medians, walls, and sidewalk and are now working on the streetlights as well as other items. This first segment of the project should be completed in April. Work on 1300 East has now moved to the section of the road from 8600 South to 9400

South. Traffic lanes are being shifted and delays may be experienced in this area. The completion of the 1300 East project is scheduled for November 2010. If you would like to receive weekly construction updates, visit the project website at www.udot.utah.gov/1300east or call 801-904-4013.

Construction crews are busy working on the rebuild of 700

East from Carnation Drive to 11600 South. Currently, a new storm drain is being installed and utilities are being relocated. At the 700 East 10600 South intersection, traffic will be restricted to one lane in all directions until Fall 2010. Business access along 700 East will remain open throughout the project. For more information about this project, call 801-266-7003 or visit www.udot.utah.gov/700east.

New Traffic Light and New Traffic Rules

Recently Sandy City has installed a flex light at the intersection of 9000 South and State Street. This light can be seen by the vehicles that are traveling eastbound on 9000 South as they approach State Street. This light is on the far right hand side of the intersection and has the ability to serve two different capacities. During events and other large gatherings, the light can be switched to allow two right hand turn lanes onto State Street. It also is able to function as a through arrow and allow for a third eastbound lane of travel when not being used as a right turn lane. With this change the city has installed a No U-turn sign for the traffic traveling north on State Street that is preparing to turn westbound on 9000 South. No U-turn signs have also been recently added to the intersection at 9000 South 700 East as well as 10600 South State Street.

A new flex traffic light was installed at 9000 South and State Street. For safety reasons, U-turns are no longer allowed when traveling north on State Street.

Historic Sandy Named as Official "This Old House" Neighborhood

"This Old House," the popular magazine and television show, has named Historic Sandy as the official This Old House Neighborhood in Utah. The area was selected after researching hundreds of cities, towns, and neighborhoods across North America. The neighborhood was chosen as a community with beautiful, historic homes which appeal to old-house-loving buyers; a place where people are quick to lend a hand, where neighborhood gatherings are frequent, and where community amenities and recreation opportunities are close by. All of the winners of the "This Old House" neighborhood designation can be viewed at www.thisoldhouse.com.
